

Well-Rounded Well-Prepared

Students from St. Mary Hales Corners come to us not only with exceptional skills in math, reading and science, but with extraordinary social and interpersonal skills. Because of their academic preparation as well as their strong study and organizational skills, students from St. Mary are well equipped for the rigor of high school. Additionally, they have a solid foundation in the Christian faith. Their disposition is warm, caring and friendly with a spirituality that is deep and genuine.

Past Principal - Thomas More High School

Strong Community Strong Support

My husband and I both attended Catholic school and wanted the same for our children. St. Mary Parish School has it all - a strong, faith-based education with an amazing community of parents and teachers that care about their students. The teachers are able to accommodate all four of our children's different learning styles. The reading room that is offered has given our kids the extra help they need to boost their confidence. Mike and I want our kids to become respectful, confident and kind people with strong Catholic values. St. Mary does a good job of facilitating these qualities.

Foundation of Faith and Service

As a former student, I am so grateful for St. Mary Parish School and how it helped shape who I am today. Thanks to the emphasis on faith and service, as well as strong academics, I cultivated a passion for social justice and work with the poor. The parish supported this passion and together we began a relationship with a community in Haiti that has been among the most influential experiences of my life. This path has brought me to a career in service as a physician and a strong identity in my Catholic faith.

Dr. Beth Lownik, St. Mary Parish School Alumni

Caring and Holistic Approach

St. Mary Parish School represents an extraordinary marriage of strong academics, faith formation and character education. Its teachers, administrators and staff are knowledgeable, skilled passionate child advocates. They care deeply about their students and are committed to their intellectual, religious, social and emotional development. High schools welcome St. Mary students with open arms and a large percentage not only graduate, but go on to realize significant success in colleges and universities like my own."

St. Mary Parish School is an inviting, welcoming community that fosters the development of the whole student through clear values and expectations. St. Mary students are well-prepared to be successful in high school and beyond. Our curriculum challenges each student to think critically and communicate effectively. More than academic excellence, our Catholic identity serves as a guide as we strive to prepare students to become leaders for justice through service.

Mrs. Maria Schram,
